Q)How many days do you need in Goa?

A: While you can visit Goa for anywhere from 2 to 7 days, the ideal Goa trip is 4 to 5 days including your travel time from your home city. This gives you sufficient time to relax as well as explore the main places to visit in Goa.

- 1. • Use one day to explore North Goa beaches like Calangute beach, Baga beach and Anjuna beach, where you can also experience a variety of water sports like jet-ski rides, banana boat rides, parasailing etc.
- 2. • One day can be kept for cultural exploration – see the Old Goa heritage through the beautiful churches like Se Cathedral, Basilica of Bom Jesus, the Fontainhas area, and Panjim town where you can also shop for cashews and other souvenirs. Or, you could use the day to visit a spice plantation for something different.
- 3. • If you enjoy water sports, you might want to spend one day on a tour to Grand Island where you are taken by boat and can try snorkelling etc.
- 4. • If you want to see more beaches, spend a day visiting the beaches of South Goa, such as Palolem beach, Colva beach, Mobor beach etc.

A. Both North Goa and South Goa have their own advantages and attractions for all kinds of travellers. North Goa will typically offer you more buzzing beaches, happening party spots and budget shopping. At the same time, there are beaches in North Goa like Arambol beach and Candolim beach that are quite good for families. In South Goa, the beaches are quieter, the hotels are more isolated, and the vibe is more relaxed. If you want a peaceful and relaxed vacation then South Goa would definitely be your choice, but if you want the best of both, then you could also pick a quieter part of North Goa.
